

Ohio Revised Code

Section 163.13 View of premises.

Effective: January 1, 1966

Legislation: Senate Bill 94 - 106th General Assembly

No delay in the proceedings shall be occasioned by doubt as to the ownership of any property, or as to the interest of the respective owners, but in such cases the court may require the retention of the deposit or award or such portion thereof as the court deems appropriate, until the rights of the respective parties have been determined.
