

Ohio Revised Code

Section 307.381 Establishing county board of building appeals.

Effective: May 27, 2005

Legislation: House Bill 175 - 125th General Assembly

(A) The board of county commissioners of any county that has a building department certified pursuant to section 3781.10 of the Revised Code may by resolution establish a county board of building appeals, make appointments to the board, and fix the compensation, if any, of the board members.

(B) Upon certification under section 3781.20 of the Revised Code, the county board of building appeals shall hear and decide appeals from adjudication orders of the county building inspector or other officer assigned to perform the building official's duties pertaining to the enforcement within the jurisdiction of Chapters 3781. and 3791. of the Revised Code and any rules adopted pursuant to those chapters.
