

Ohio Administrative Code

Rule 1301:5-1-16 Effective date of licensure.

Effective: September 24, 2000

(A) No person nor entity shall engage in any conduct for which a real estate license is required until an effective date of licensure has been established by the division.

(B) For initial licensure, the effective date of licensure will be the date that the license is issued, which will be reflected on the license itself.

(C) For license changes, the effective date of licensure will not be established until the division has all of the information and fees necessary to process and issue a new license.
