

Ohio Administrative Code

Rule 4123-16-10 Participation in interconnected or combined systems.

Effective: March 15, 1982

(A) The bureau shall not place personal information in an interconnected or combined system, or use personal information that is placed in an interconnected or combined system by another state or local agency or another organization, unless the interconnected or combined system will contribute to the efficiency of the involved agencies in implementing programs that are authorized by law.

(B) The bureau shall not use personal information placed in an interconnected or combined system by another state or local agency or another organization unless the personal information is necessary and relevant to the performance of a lawful function of the bureau.

(C) The participation in an interconnected or combined system or the use of personal information in an interconnected or combined system shall be approved by the privacy officer.
