

Ohio Revised Code

Section 5.2247 Juneteenth national freedom day.

Effective: April 7, 2009

Legislation: Senate Bill 243 - 127th General Assembly

The nineteenth day of June is designated as "Juneteenth National Freedom Day" to acknowledge the freedom, history, and culture that June 19, 1865, the day on which the last slaves in the United States were set free in Texas, has come to symbolize.
